

Thanks so much for your interest in the travel advisor independent contractor opportunity. This is a fully remote business role where you'll book travel through our host agency, with complete training and support provided. You'll also be able to set your own schedule. I am grateful to have partnered with our host agency, as they provide our global team with certification, training, a personal site, and exceptional mentorship, resources and guidance, allowing those who join the opportunity to not have to start from scratch.

To get the full overview, including training, pay structure, and how everything operates, you'll just need to attend one of our informational webinars. There will be a few webinars you can choose from which will go into detail the role and how our company and team members support our advisors. I look forward to you attending the webinar to learn more.

If you would like to learn more about the company, please select from one of the following 1 hour Corporate Presentations to Attend. After viewing the presentation, if you would like to move forward in joining our team of incredible travel advisors and growing your own business, please follow the steps below:

Attend a Corporate Presentation. Register here: <https://teamup.com/ks7cu72mh2mqbrqbeq>

After attending the presentation, if you would like to move forward with this opportunity, email: thewelltravelco@gmail.com

Please note: In the informational session you will be informed of a small service fee that is required which includes your certified travel advisor license, travel advisor training, personal website, endless resources and supportive guidance and mentorship. You are able to complete this training and get started booking travel or growing your business as quickly as you choose.
